Submissions from a record number of countries and regions

Award-winning Works will be announced in mid-March of 2017

Exhibition of Award-winning Works to be held in September 2017

The entry period for submission of works to the 20th Japan Media Arts Festival ended on September 9, 2016. As in previous years, the festival drew an enthusiastic response, with a total of 4,034 works submitted. Overseas entries represented an all-time record of 87 countries and regions. With this level of interest from around the globe, the Japan Media Arts Festival continues to evolve as an international competition that broadly showcases the modernistic forms of expression and diversity of the Media Arts.

Over the upcoming months, members of the juries for each division will screen the entries. Grand Prizes, Excellence Awards, and New Face Awards will be presented in recognition of works in each division that exhibit a high degree of artistry and creativity. The Award-winning Works, as well as Special Achievement Awards and Jury Selections, will be announced in mid-March of 2017.

The exhibition of Award-winning Works from this year's festival is planned to be held in September 2017 at two venues: the NTT InterCommunication Center [ICC] and the Tokyo Opera City Art Gallery (Hatsudai, Tokyo).

The details will be announced in a later press release, etc.
